COLORADO WOODWORKING SHOW - 1990

The recent COLORADO WOODWORKING SHOW at the National Western Complex is over and many thanks go to those who volunteered their time and loaned their tools for the successful display. Again, we were one of the most popular exhibits there and our booth was crowded with visitors most of the time. We had more than 125 visitors sign up as being interested in receiving a newsletter and visiting a future meeting. We expect to pick up some new members from the free advertising and exposure. (Five new memberships have already come in from this exposure. ED.)

We're getting to be old hands at this show (this was our 4th year) but it still takes a lot of effort to coordinate, set up, staff, and take down. Special thanks to: Dave Miller for coordinating the tools displays; Bob Finch for scheduling staffing shifts; Ed Rowland for hauling a ton of tool and display cases; and to everyone else who staffed or generously loaned tools.

For next year: Anyone who wants to volunteer to be liaison between the show administration and RMTCC, contact Steve Scruggs. Also, if you would like to conduct a workshop, the show administration is looking for people to present demonstrations or talks to the public during the show. If you can demo a craft, trade, use of a particular tool, etc., and think you would be interested, contact Steve. This is your chance to be become a star.

Steve Scruggs

We are saddened to learn of two deaths in our membership.

We have received word of the December death of member Hap Wuckert of Alamosa, CO. Hap was a member for a number of years and was instrumental in arranging the first interim joint meeting we had in Alamosa in 1984 and again in 1989.

Nancy Elliott, wife of longtime member Don Elliott of Greeley, died following surgery in January.

We extend our sympathy to these families.

WILLIAMSBURG EXHIBITION

The Colonial Williamsburg Foundation will open an major exhibit in 1992 of documented 2,000 17th, 18th, and early 19th century hand tools. The exhibit will contain not only pieces from the Colonial Williamsburg collection but also objects lent by other museums and private collectors. The project team will be seeking the assistance of the tool collecting community to locate tools to borrow for exhibit and to gather information about tool history and use. More information may be obtained by contacting Jay Gaynor, P.O. Drawer C, Williamsburg, VA 23187 (804) 220-7525

TRINIDAD JOINT MEETING

Make your plans to be in Trinidad, Colorado on May 5th & 6th. This joint meeting will begin Saturday afternoon with board meeting. We'll get together for mini-displays and dinner, then have the main tool business on Sunday morning.

TRINIDAD: MAY 5th & 6th
